

#HISA2017 set to lead digital healthcare conversation

the 3rd edition of Healthcare Innovation Summit Africa (#HISA2017)- slated for 29 and 30 August 2017 in Johannesburg, promises to be the biggest to date.

JOHANNESBURG, GAUTENG, SOUTH AFRICA, July 27, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- #HISA2017 set to lead digital healthcare conversation_

With evident success over the years, the 3rd edition of Healthcare Innovation Summit Africa (#HISA2017)- slated for 29 and 30 August 2017 in Johannesburg, promises to be the biggest to date; bringing together industry leaders and influencers including administrators, heads of technology, policy makers, technology solution providers, academics, health-tech entrepreneurs, medical professionals as well as key stakeholders and top management from public and private hospitals.

For the past three years, healthcare and technology professionals have gathered at this one-of-a-kind event to engage in discussions aimed at finding innovative solutions to Africa's many healthcare challenges. This year's edition will feature influential speakers, many of whom have implemented game-changing tech solutions within their healthcare organisations. It is no surprise that major tech and healthcare brands, as well as government departments have thrown their weight behind this summit.

Some of the organisations that will be represented at #HISA2017 include: Western Cape Department of Health, the KZN Department of Health, Boehringer-Ingelheim, the South African Medical Research Council, Deloitte, Mediswitch, Nelson Mandela Children's Hospital, Helen Joseph Hospital, George Mukhari Hospital, Specpharm, Areta Health, Netcare, Med-e-Mass, MediSwitch, Qlik, Meditech, Safran, SAMed, Health24, Tactile Technologies, CipherWave, Metrofile, Infobip among others.
