Latest Report on Bunker Fuel Market Global Analysis & 2023 Forecast Research Study

Global Bunker Fuel Market is expected to grow from $98,111.00 million in 2016 to reach $1,47,008.89 million by 2023 with a CAGR of 5.9%. Growing demand in oil & gas sector for offshore exploration and extraction activities, raise in ocean-borne field and increasing support from government are some of the key factors propelling the market growth. However, policies like fuel reduction and replacement of fuel by LNG are the major factors restricting the market size.

Based on the end user, container vessels segment is estimated to lead the market during the forecast period as the container vessels require less manpower than cargo vessels. The European region is witnessing high growth rate due to existence of busiest trade routes and choke points in the region.
