PUNE, MAHARASHTRA, INDIA, August 10, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Market Synopsis of Sand Control Systems

Market Scenario:

There has been a considerable contraction in the revenues as well as investments in the oil and gas industry following the oil price decline, since mid-2014. However in recent months, oil prices have been rising steadily and are expected to achieve price stabilization. The demand-supply gap is gradually reducing resulting into a change in the industry dynamics. This change has instigated an increase in the rig count leading to a rise in the demand for production operations. Growth in production to curb the expected increase in oil demand is would boost the market for Sand Control Systems.
