

New Ranking by ITFirms.co Gives More Accurate List of Top Development Companies

ITFirms.co makes changes in the web development and mobile app development ranking categories of top players across the globe.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, August 16, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- More than a dozen companies claimed spots on the 2017 editions of development firms. According to latest ranking updates by ITFirms.co, world's top mobile app development and web development companies witness a shuffle in their positions with many new names added on the top of the list. Researchers and specialists at ITFirms.co evaluated the companies on their latest deliveries and recent client reviews and consequently, made changes in the past rankings.

While mobile app development agencies like Intellectsoft and Willow Tree Apps have moved up in the list, few of them including Fuzz, TechAhead, Y Media Labs have dropped their rankings in the top 1-10 list. Likewise, there are few new names added to the list- Appster, Softeq, Fueled, Leeway Hertz. One of the many top app development companies that stayed on the top and maintained its ranking from then to now is Konstant Infosolutions. Konstant continued its growth leading the way of application development.

Though it's a mixed bag when it comes to the ranking results, few companies have always enjoyed five-star client reviews and ratings for their development services. The most important parameters that let them acquire top rankings are the use of latest technology and tools. If, at any time, you fail to keep abreast of the change in technology, you are sure to be knocked down.

Because businesses- be it startups, well-established brands or mid-level enterprises- can't afford to offer obsolete technologies to their smart customers.

And ITFirms.co understands this very well, so the team here includes only those app developers who show a desirable inclination towards new, state-of-the-art technology.

"A crucial step towards becoming a top development agency is to have a clear understanding of what the users expect your app to be," said one of the research experts at ITFirms.co. He further added, "The clients look for feasible time and cost estimates from the developers and expect them to keep up the promises of project delivery. This is one of the reasons that affect the ranking lists."

Same applies to web development services too. Companies including IT Craft, NMG Technologies, Blue Fountain Media, Hidden Brains, Jordan Crown are the top picks for web development services, as ranked by ITFirms.co. This list also sees a change in rankings and new names onboard.

ITFirms.co has now become a globally trusted research and review firm because it conducts intensive searches for IT services and offshore development companies that can create value for money and provide a new dimension to survival and excel to businesses and organizations in the digital panorama.
