

TV Show Stop My Crisis with Vivian Gaspar Airs Episode On Bullying

How to Recognize if YOUR Child is the Bully

PRINCETON, NJ, USA, August 23, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Princeton, NJ- We as a society need to save our children from the new epidemic of bullying. Children as young as 12 years old have committed suicide as a result of being bullied. We, as parents need to step up, and not just learn how to recognize if our children are being bullied, but also if they themselves are the bully. Our first guest is Bobby Kimbrough, former Federal Agent, who now works closely with distressed schools. His objective has been to help these children in stopping their behavior and bringing together both the bullies and the victims in order to better understand each other, and possibly come together in friendship.

Our second guest Taryn Abrahams, a family therapist, has worked for many years with children. She explains how to have resilience when being bullied and coaches the parents on what to say and do if their child is a victim. Please watch this episode with your children and help them through the newest and most tragic crisis families are now facing.
