Analysts Exhibiting at the 35th Annual NAJIS Conference

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, August 25, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Analysts will be exhibiting at the 35th Annual National Association for Justice Information Systems (NAJIS) Conference. The conference will be held from August 28 – 31, 2017 at the Intercontinental Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio.

Attendees of the 2017 conference will discover a variety of invaluable materials and resources blended and suited specifically for local, state, and federal criminal justice practitioners. NAJIS conferences are geared to educate and demonstrate best practices for justice information system implementation and business process flow. IT technologies and standards that improve and engineer information sharing are explored in depth. Presentations are fashioned for both technical and non-technical audiences.

“Of all the national industry events that we attend, the NAJIS conference is unique in the small group interactions that are encouraged among the attendees,” said Tanya Stauffer, Analysts Practice Director for Government Solutions. “We are grateful for the opportunity help sponsor this event and talk with justice information sharing professionals. This event is unique in the grass roots level of discussion where people share ideas, challenges, and focus on collaborative problem solving. We are honored to be part of this event, and we look forward to a wonderful experience!”
