IT Governance CEO Alan Calder to speak at the Future of Cyber Security Conference in Manchester

IT Governance's founder and executive chairman, Alan Calder, will speak at this year's Future of Cyber Security Conference in Manchester.

ELY, UNITED KINGDOM, August 31, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IT Governance's founder and executive chairman, Alan Calder, will speak about conducting cyber security health checks to initiate compliance projects at this year's Future of Cyber Security Conference in Manchester.

The conference provides organisations with the opportunity to learn from leading information security, data protection and cyber security specialists. The one-day event will focus on understanding the requirements of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and best practice around preventing cyber attacks.

IT Governance is delighted to announce that Alan Calder will deliver a presentation on 'Conducting cyber security health checks to initiate a GDPR, NIS Directive or ISO 27001 compliance project'. It will cover identifying critical risk areas, implementing security measures, the impact of the GDPR and the benefits of an information security management system (ISMS).

Alan Calder said: "The Future of Cyber Security Conference is a great opportunity to discuss the GDPR and the Security of Network and Information Systems (NIS) Directive, which come into effect in May 2018. I look forward to speaking about the cyber security process of compliance projects, which will help businesses to understand the key requirements for the new data protection regulation."

The conference is on Thursday, 14 September at Manchester United's Old Trafford stadium. You can register here and get more information on exhibitors, speakers and the event programme.
