Janeene High CEO of Results Driven Marketing, LLC stated that “she was pleased with the extraordinary progress that RDM has made in 2017. We have gone from a small agency that was operating under the radar, to an agency that is regularly being rewarded for excellence. Our clients know the value of our services and that excellence”
RDM was founded in 2013 with a small set of clients. It was the owner’s decision NOT to market their services to new clients or prospects. The plan was to prove to these clients that RDM provided results that went beyond their expectations.

By handling these few clients RDM has honed their strengths and skills into reproducible results. In 2017 RDM has finally implemented inbound and outbound marketing strategies to grow the business.

Managing Partner and co-founder Mike Bannan stated it simplistically. We could grow the business and become the dominant agency on the East Coast. Unfortunately to do that we would have to act like many agencies locally and across the country. That would mean we would have to sacrifice quality for quantity and that is just something we will never do!

An interviewer at a local radio show recently asked Bannan if he really believed that RDM provided better results for their clients than RDM’s competitors? Bannan answered with earnest saying “we have systems in-house that track our competitors and more importantly our client’s competitors. Bannan continued “Our clients are growing faster and faster, their PPC spend is declining because we get them better results faster and more economically. We track and report to our clients weekly their results and we can tell them how many clients they gained. Not impressions or visits, paying clients!”

He finished by asking the interviewer this question: “You have been doing this for what 15 years? How many agency owners have you spoken with that can tell you how many clients a certain customer gained in the course of a week, month or year? I can do it every day if need be!”
