

Living Fuel Founder and Natural Health Expert KC Craichy to Speak at Chronic Fatigue and Fibromyalgia Summit

Craichy was invited back for a second summit after the overwhelmingly positive response from his first appearance.

ORLANDO, FL, UNITED STATES, September 13, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- KC Craichy, a sought after speaker on the topics of natural health and nutrition, will be a featured guest at the Chronic Fatigue and Fibromyalgia Summit, an online summit that is going on now. This is the second appearance for Craichy, who was invited back after the overwhelmingly positive feedback from his initial appearance.

The Chronic Fatigue and Fibromyalgia Summit, hosted by Dr. Laara Van Bryce DC, is an informative series of interviews with a host of experts in the fields of natural health, healing and personal life change. Because some of the symptoms of chronic fatigue and fibromyalgia can mimic other disorders such as anxiety, depression or panic attacks, this summit is designed to provide a wide array of information to help those who suffer with any of those conditions to explore different treatment options.

Craichy will talk about the insights he gained from his wife Monica's battle with severe depression. He is the founder and CEO of Living Fuel, a superfood nutrition company that changes lives by making it easy for people to eat healthy. The company is a byproduct of his relentless pursuit to find a natural remedy for Monica's health challenges.
