PUNE, INDIA, September 14, 2017
/EINPresswire.com/ --

WiseGuyReports.Com Publish a New Market Research Report On - “Self-drive Car Rental in Emerging Countries 2017 Market – Opportunities, Challenges, Strategies & Forecasts 2020”.

The analysts forecast the self-drive car rental market in emerging countries to grow at a CAGR of 22.30% during the period 2016-2020.

The self-drive car rental market in the emerging countries is mainly driven by factors such as government restrictions regarding private car ownerships and increased access to technological advancements like the internet and smartphones. The ownership of private vehicles has increased considerably in the urban areas and large cities of the emerging nations, leading to environmental pollution and traffic congestion. In China, policymakers in large cities have adopted their unique solutions to address the problem. One such example is the car ownership control policy.

The policy imposes a direct restriction on the number of registered private car ownership. This has been successful in controlling the proliferation of car ownership, reducing the number of cars on the road.
