

Coming Full Circle with Sustainability

A Workshop on Building a Circular Economy in the DMV Region

WASHINGTON, DC, USA, September 18, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Join us for a workshop to meet with those interested in developing a circular economy in the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia (DMV) region. A circular economy is a regenerative system which minimizes or eliminates resource inputs, waste, emissions, and energy leakages. Register HERE.

We will feature a number of initiatives which are nurturing a circular economy ecosystem. Presenters will provide examples of success stories of the circular economy and share their expertise on components of the circular economy including urban farming and workforce development, local business, advanced manufacturing focused on utilizing local resources and labor, ecoindustrial parks, and regional economic development.
