Description

Wiseguyreports.Com Adds “Automotive Interior Materials -Market Demand, Growth, Opportunities and Analysis Of Top Key Player Forecast To 2022” To Its Research Database

The Global Automotive Interior Materials Market is accounted for $55.44 billion in 2016 and is expected to reach $124.42 billion by 2023 growing at a CAGR of 12.2% during the forecast period. Technological advancements, increased globalization of the automobile industry and rising private equity investments are some of the factors fueling the market growth. However, government restrictions on materials are inhibiting the market. Fabrics manufacturing and increasing integration of green technology and nanotechnology in automotive leather provides ample of opportunities for the market growth. Strict policies about leather production may also pose challenge to market over the forecast period. Rising focus on lightweight vehicles is the key trend in the market.

Synthetic leather holds maximum share and is expected to register significant growth rate. It is majorly preferred as it economical, easy to clean, and easily available. Asia Pacific is expected to grow at a fastest CAGR owing to the rapid economic growth and increasing population.

Some of the key players in Automotive Interior Materials market include Lear Corporation, DK Leather Corporation Berhad, Grupo Antolin-Irausa, S.A, Seiren Co., Ltd, Grammer AG, Toyota Boshoku Corporation, Borgers Se & Co. KGaA, Johnson Controls, Inc., BASF SE, GST AutoLeather, Inc., Faurecia SA, Toyoda Gosei Co., Ltd and Sage Automotive Interiors Inc.
