Giving U the X-Factor [with Isomorphic Software]

Today, Isomorphic Software – provider of the most advanced, most complete HTML5 platform for building Enterprise web apps – released SmartClient 11.1 | 6.1.

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, September 19, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- To help illustrate the significance of Isomorphic's SmartClient 11.1 | 6.1, imagine you're attracted to someone in a bar. They likely won't give you the time of day unless they find you easy on the eye. If you pass that hurdle, you'll probably get a date. But if you can't hold at least a basic conversation about the performance benefits of Adaptive Filtering, the relationship is over before it even gets started.

Adoption of Enterprise web applications works in much the same way. When users first check out your new offering, they'll quickly formulate an opinion. If it's negative, you're dead in the water. If they like what they see, they'll test further to weigh-up whether it will make their job easier. If capabilities are found lacking, getting adoption will be a losing battle.

That's why you need Isomorphic's latest release, SmartClient 11.1 | 6.1. It is the best looking technology for building Enterprise web applications (see their new 'Tahoe' skin: attention to detail, contemporary, beautiful). Your apps will be getting much more than a second glance. Beyond the superficial, SmartClient gives your applications a depth and breadth of capabilities that is unrivaled: Enterprise Grade UI components, Intelligent Data Management, and Deep Server Integration. With Isomorphic's SmartClient, you had better be ready for some serious, long term relationships.

SmartClient 11.1 | 6.1 is available for download today. It adds contemporary UI/UX, intelligent charts that adapt to dynamic data, and numerous productivity features. Learn more at www.SmartClient.com.
