Get a higher assessment from the Quebec Minister of Public Security by using Pogo.Pro's online estimation, claims management and tendering portal.

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, CANADA, September 27, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MONTREAL, September 27, 2017 - Quebec flood victims are turning to Pogo.Pro in their battle with the Quebec Public Security Minister. Flood victims are considering class actions because their damage assessments are below the cost of the repairs.

Home owners should get a professional estimate and quotes from at least 3 pros before they contest the minister's assessment. According to Mark Sibthorpe, President of Pogo.Pro, "We make damage estimates easy and it is free through our online renovations and claims management portal."

Pogo.Pro, Canada's online renovations management platform, consists of an estimate builder, a bidding platform, and project management tools, designed to protect Quebec flood victims who need to document damages and follow the correct claim procedures.

Flood victims staged demonstrations and fund-raisers recently in Pierrefonds and Vaudreuil. This will not get them more money from the minister. Professional damage estimates and quotes for flood repairs will!

Pogo.Pro's renovations management platform has been adapted specifically to deal with claim requirements. The platform, which automates renovation estimates and tenders for home owners, actually generates claims documents automatically.

Pogo.Pro, president, Mark Sibthorpe, anticipated the need for this kind of platform during the ice storm in 98, a time where he discovered that "victims of natural disasters" need protection; platform development began two years ago. One result of this effort is that Pogo.Pro can provide flood victims a document trail that can be referred to at any time, especially if there is a claim dispute. Documenting damage is a critical part of the claims process. Not doing so may cause delays or even reduce potential claim value.

About Pogo.Pro

Renovations/construction pros can bid on these tenders, manage projects and payments. Pogo.Pro has over 64,000 pricing items in its database which makes building detailed estimates a reality even for inexperienced home owners.
