Description

Wiseguyreports.Com Adds "Supply Chain Analytics -Market Demand, Growth, Opportunities and Analysis Of Top Key Player Forecast To 2022" To Its Research Database

Global Supply Chain Analytics market is estimated to be $2.73 billion in 2015 and is poised to grow at a CAGR of 16.9% to reach $8.19 billion by 2022. It is highly required to handle vast quantity of data that is being generated and convert it into a valuable asset. Thus, escalating business data and need of efficient database management tools across varied industries worldwide have fueled the market growth. However, factors such as lack of data visibility in real-time in the international business, no meticulous way to streamline processes within planning and execution, no flexibility within the network and inconsistency in product line are all hampering the growth of supply chain analytics market. Retail and healthcare sectors are the largest segments of this market. Asia Pacific (APAC), Latin America (LA) and Middle East and Africa (MEA) are the fastest-growing regions in the market owing to the emerging manufacturing and other industries in these regions.

Some of the key players in the market include Tableau, SAS Institute.INC., SAP SE, Oracle Corporation, Microstrategy, Kinaxis INC., IBM Corporation, Genpact, Capgemini, Birst.INC, Sage Clarity LLC, Wipro, Northrop Grumman, Theodore Wille Intergrade, United Technologies, Accenture, Raytheon and Lockheed Martin.
