LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, October 9, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- N.V Biotech Ltd, the UK's leading cannabinoid research and manufacturing company partners to manufacture Israeli CBD brand PROVACAN. The PROVACAN eLiquid is a unique formulation blending hemp derived CBD with cannabis terpene profiles and come in regular and SOS strengths.

Terpenes are fragrant oils that give cannabis its aromatic diversity. Like cannabinoids, terpenes bind to receptors in the brain and give rise to various and powerful therapeutic effects.

LONDON, September 7th, 2017 -- NVBiotech announces the successful production partnership of CIITECH's eLiquid range. The product is branded under the PROVACAN range signifying it's Israeli design roots. The products are available now to UK consumers via www.essentialcannabinoids.co.uk. The products include CBD (Cannabidiol), a non-psychoactive ingredient or cannabinoid found in both hemp and regular cannabis strains.

Located in London UK, NV Biotech is an established manufacturer and formulator of CBD products for the UK market. Following the success of its premier brand www.CANAVAPE.co.uk in 2014, the company has gone on to launch a range of CBD oils, vapes and capsules under both their own brands including ECS and on behalf of local partners.

NV Biotech Director Mark Sterling said “This partnership is important, it sends a message to the now established and growing UK market that we are market leaders as manufacturers in the UK. We worked closely with Clifton Flack, CEO of CIITECH to formulate the products based on their Israeli knowledge and knowhow”.

Israel's scientific and business community has been working with cannabinoid therapies for over 50 years since active chemicals CBD & THC were discovered by Professor Mechoulam at the Hebrew University Jerusalem. In Israel, eight cannabis farms and over 30,000 approved users have been legally enjoying the health benefits of this new therapeutic area for over 10 years. The country's open and dynamic regulatory environment together with an open minded scientific and medical community place the country at the forefront of understanding the health benefits of the cannabis plant.

“PROVACAN eLiquid is formulated in our London based lab to best production practice. The partnership has enabled us to create this high-quality product with a unique terpene formulation. We're proud of this partnership and are looking forward to continuing to work with our Israeli friends to build on this initial product line” said Ben Walker, Director of NV Biotech and founder of Canavape.

Clifton Flack, founder of CIITECH adds “In Israel, cannabis is available for medicinal use and has become destigmatized across the country's demographics. Scientists at Israel's leading institutions are working closely with entrepreneurs, developing products both pharmaceutical and non-pharmaceutical therapeutic pathways. We create unique formulations and combine with innovative delivery mechanisms that are both relevant and legal in the UK. We are looking forward to further leveraging Israeli experience to locally produce the highest quality products possible. This is the reason we chose to work with NV Biotech who are unique in the UK e-Liquid industry.”

PROVACAN eLiquid products are priced from £55.97 for 15ml with 500mg CBD and a range of cannabinoid terpenes, available via www.essentialcannabinoids.co.uk
