

Fantasy Basketball Nerd Launches Rankings for 2017-18

TayTech LLC today announced the consumer launch of FantasyBasketballNerd.com just in time for the 2017-18 fantasy basketball season.

OSHKOSH, WI, US, October 9, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Fantasy Basketball Nerd takes the "wisdom of the crowd" to a new level by aggregating rankings and projections from the industry's leading fantasy basketball sites, weighting them based upon each site's accuracy, and producing the industry's most accurate consensus rankings.

The underlying algorithm was originally developed for sister site Fantasy Football Nerd and has been recognized as one of the most accurate in the industry. It saves the typical player several hours by aggregating and collecting advice from a large cross section of industry experts. The expert rankings are updated frequently to ensure that the data is recent and relevant.

"NerdRank is the technology created to bring the wisdom of the crowd into a manageable environment. It's what makes Fantasy Basketball Nerd so unique. Anyone can aggregate fantasy basketball rankings and projections and then average them out. NerdRank is a results-oriented process for normalizing the rankings and projections. Weighting the rankings based upon past accuracy can give you an edge that your competition doesn't have," said Joe Dyken, CEO and founder of FantasyBasketballNerd.com.

We grade every site for accuracy and weight their rankings and projections based upon that accuracy. We literally use the best of the best in our consensus.”

J. Joseph Dyken, CEO

The Nerd's innovative draft rankings system provides a consensus ranking for overall draft rankings as well as positional rankings. It operates under the theory that having nine heads is better than one. The consensus rankings are
