

Genians Exhibiting at the Cloud & Cyber Security Expo 2017 in Singapore

Stop by Genians (Stand Q6) to Learn Why Cloud-Based NAC is So Important in the IoT Era

NORTH ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS, UNITED STATES, October 10, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Genians, leaders of providing Cloud-based Network Access Control (NAC) solutions, announced today it will be attending the Cloud & Cyber Security Expo in Singapore from October 11-12, 2017. Key executive staff members will be on hand to demo its industry-leading cloud-based NAC solution, Genian NAC. They will also discuss how businesses can benefit from Genian NAC to prepare for Internet of Things (IoT) initiatives and a secure digital transformation.

Over the last 12 years, Genian NAC has helped businesses maintain complete visibility and access control for all wired, wireless, mobile, and IoT infrastructures. It secures the entire lifecycle of all connected devices powered by Genians Device Platform Intelligence through the cloud.

For a fraction of the cost of a traditional NAC solution, Genian NAC provides all the major features that network managers expect, such as smart visibility, contextual access control, NAC-driven IP Address Management (IPAM), remote desktop configuration management, complete security control over Wi-Fi access, automated IT security operation, IT asset management, and much more.

“We introduced a cloud-based version of Genian NAC to the world at RSA 2017, and since then, we have received a huge amount of interest from businesses as well as a lot of positive feedback from our customers,” Genians president and co-founder, Kyeyeon Kim said. “This solution is especially attractive for the Small to Medium-sized Enterprises (SMEs) and Managed Service Providers (MSPs) thanks to its exceptionally flexible deployment options and how dramatically cost-effective it is compared to traditional network security solutions. By harnessing the power of the cloud, Genian NAC makes managing your network easier than ever.”

Genians recently opened a new office in Singapore. For business opportunities in the Asia-Pacific region, please email us at apac@genians.com. To continue sharing the successful story of Genian NAC, Genians will also be exhibiting at the upcoming AWS re:INVENT 2017 Conference (Booth 1339) in Las Vegas.
