

Kelli Hansen of Advocate Nurses to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

LA VISTA, NEBRASKA, UNITED STATES, October 13, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Nurse Consultants are indispensable in aiding law professionals and health care institutions to understand complex medical terminology.

Kelli Hansen is a registered nurse and founder of Advocate Nurses, where she primarily specializes in general nurse care consulting and freelance medical writing, but is also active in promoting patient advocacy. With more than 20 years of experience in nursing, Kelli offers more than your typical consulting practice.

"I possess an overwhelming amount of different skills based on my extensive experience," explains Kelli. "My skills encompass many areas of nursing, so I'm utilizing my knowledge to provide clients with expert services. Whether it's writing blogs, creating continuing education on illnesses or diseases, consulting companies on changing their structure to help build up their business, or assisting them in introducing lucrative new products, it's way more cost effective for a company to hire my services."

Kelli was inspired by her grandmother, who was also a nurse. At 14, Kelli became a candy striper. While in college, she worked as a certified nurse assistant and discovered her love of patient care and healthcare in general. Through her years of work and education, she found a love of patient advocacy. According to Kelli, there is currently no company as unique as Advocate Nurses that combines nurse consulting and healthcare writing.

"I perform numerous medical freelance work such as writing health care articles and blogs for different companies," says Kelli. "My contributions include publishing a chapter in a prominent legal book, and writing health care articles and blogs for different companies that need them for travel nursing or consumer medical subjects. My consulting work includes working with attorneys on malpractice and other legal cases, putting together the puzzle of complex cases.”

Kelli is certified as a dementia practitioner, managed care nursing and a senior advisor for the elderly. She holds a certificate in patient advocacy and legal nurse consulting.

“I am an ideal candidate if you’re seeking someone flexible who is easy to communicate with, extremely knowledgeable and professional for a short-term or long-term project.”

CUTV News Radio will feature Kelli Hansen in an interview with Jim Masters on October 17th at 4pm EDT.
