

Reconnective Healing Practitioner Liane Mercier to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

TORONTO, ONTARIO, UNITED STATES, October 14, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Most of us turn to conventional Western Medicine when we are physically ill and emotionally stressed, taking countless pills or treatments to alleviate our pain. What if there were a force within the universe that holds the key to help us with our aches and pains and improve our lives where traditional medicine has failed us, and what if that energy were accessible to any one of us right now?

Liane Mercier is a Reconnective Healing Foundation Practitioner. As energy healing becomes more mainstream, Reconnective Healing has become one of the fastest growing modalities in the world.

“I began to explore energy healing by practicing on my friends, family, colleague, pets, and plants and they actually started experiencing healing,” says Liane. “I told myself you need to offer your services and help others share the experience and feel the wonder and the joy and to help people heal.”

Liane first discovered the power of energy healing when she came across Dr. Eric Pearl, the founder of Reconnective Healing. She immediately felt a connection and inspired to start her own energy healing practice and has never looked back.

“Since I began my healing practice the outcome has been phenomenal, heartwarming, and simply amazing,” says Liane. “There is no limit to the type of healing that can occur and each experience is unique and perfect for each person.”

Liane does not physically touch her client but simply moves her hands around their bodies connecting with their energy frequencies and the Reconnective Healing Frequencies. Her clients include people suffering from physical ailments or injuries such as arthritis, injuries, joint pain, fevers, and surgery recovery, or with emotional and mental trauma, stress and depression.

The clients leave feeling refreshed, enlightened, and with a sense of total relaxation. It even works on plants and animals.

“There’s a time and place for modern medicine and I absolutely believe in its effectiveness for many things. I also believe that conventional medicine and energy medicine should not compete with each other but should instead work together to find and fix the root cause in people. At the end of the day both of us have the same goal, to improve lives.

According to Liane, when it comes to energy healing you should keep an open mind. You’ve got nothing to lose by trying it.

“Energy healing has become more widely accepted mainstream,” says Liane. “A few years ago we wouldn’t talk about energy healing out loud, but I think people in the world are starting to have a more open mind. There’s an opportunity to help create balance in people to improve someone’s life by fixing the root cause of whatever ails them.

CUTV News Radio will feature Liane Mercier in an interview with Jim Masters on October 16th at 12pm EDT.
