Aviation Life Rafts Market 2017

Aviation life rafts must be able to accommodate all the occupants of an aircraft in the case of emergency. Each raft must be equipped with a locator light (approved as per TSO-C85 or C85a standards), pyrotechnic signaling device, and a survival kit. Aircraft also have enough number of life rafts on board so that even if the largest life raft is inoperative (due to some failures), the remaining will accommodate all the passengers of the aircraft. This contingent measure is practiced to ensure optimum safety of occupants on board an aircraft. Also, as per the guidelines of Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), any aircraft flying long-haul routes over ocean should have a minimum of two life rafts.

The analysts forecast the global aviation life rafts market to grow at a CAGR of 4.76% during the period 2017-2021.
