

Image Wizards Features High-Quality Aluminum Metal Prints

Metal prints on aluminum were invented by Roger Laudy in 2003. The company has over 40 years of product development behind its imaging technology.

LEXINGTON, NC, UNITED STATES, October 17, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Lexington, NC – Oct. 6, 2017 – Image Wizards announced that the company has combined art and science to create unique, aluminum metal prints from ordinary digital photos. Regarding aluminum metal prints, the Aluminarte collectible metal artwork is an expert reproduction that captures the vibrant colors of any photo and offers a lasting memory of life's special moments.

Image Wizards makes it possible for anyone to own a collectible piece of artwork. The company's founder is the inventor of the process whereby photo images can be reproduced on aluminum. Highly durable, aluminum metal prints provide superb image quality that won't fade or degrade over time like paper images and fingerprints can be wiped away with ease.

The company's metal prints are works of fine art comparable to those found in galleries. Image Wizards utilizes a state-of-the-art process using specialized inks, combined with just the right combination of heat, time and pressure for unequalled consistency and reproductive excellence.

Image Wizards offers multiple sizes and finishes to accommodate any need, from home décor to trade shows, and the metal artwork is available in sizes of 16x20 up to 48x96-inches. Metal artwork can be obtained with a white aluminum base in white ultra-gloss or white semi-gloss for depth and true white colors within the artwork. With lightly-brushed aluminum, choose ultra-gloss for high reflectivity and images that appear to leap from the metal, or a matte finish that's less reflective.
