The vacation rental industry, previously seen as a cottage industry, is now believed to be worth $100 billion, with the US accounting for just over a quarter of that. Furthermore, recent studies by Research and Markets, predicts that the vacation rental market will grow to almost $170 billion by 2019. The Vacation Rental Success Summit aims to support individual owners, hosts and property managers develop and scale their businesses by learning how to market, maintain and differentiate their properties as well as learning about the latest products, services and technology that make marketing and operations more efficient.

“

The Vacation Rental Success Summit is incredible because everyone there is so passionate about learning more and improving themselves when it comes to vacation rentals.”

David Angotti

David Angotti, CEO and co-founder of SmokyMountains.com and a conference keynote says, "The Vacation Rental Success Summit is incredible because everyone there is so passionate about learning more and improving themselves when it comes to vacation rentals. What really sets the event apart, however, is that everyone is there to help others learn and improve. The community feel is incredible, and I can't wait to return in 2018."

Mike Bayer, event organizer, concurs and adds: "We are really excited to be bringing the Vacation Rental Success Summit to Texas this coming year. We are seeing more and more investors and entrepreneurs moving into the vacation rental space, and our summit is a great place for owners, managers and hosts to come together, learn from world-class experts and also have the opportunity to network and share with others in similar situations."

Meanwhile from an owners' perspective, Dallas based Debbie Bozarth, who has three vacation rentals in the city including a large property in Lakewood Hills and one in the Swiss Avenue Historic District, says "I learnt so much from the event last year that I have been able to apply to my business. The VRSS is a fantastic conference for VR entrepreneurs to learn more than they already know about the industry." As an 'accidental' vacation rental entrepreneur, she has attended the Vacation Rental Success Summit before and is looking forward to attending, closer to home.
