Gamers can showcase their rigs with the CULLINAN MX's sleek design and captivating lighting effects. The full tempered glass design of this ATX mid tower is constructed with reliable, premium materials that reflect class and elegance. The case also displayed elegance by illuminating the interior gaming system with RGB lighting, showing off the supreme components within through its sophisticated tempered glass panels. Plus, the included remote control provides users with options to customize the color and effects of the LED-lit case fans to their preference.

The CULLINAN MX is engineered to offer enhanced cooling options with expansion capabilities. The tempered glass case supports up to six 120 mm fans, three in the front, two on the top, and one at the rear. Plus, there are three additional 80-mm-fan installation spots on the PSU shroud.

Additionally, there is clearance for installing a 360 mm Liquid Cooling Radiator at the front and 280 mm Liquid Cooling Radiator on top. With this impressively spacious capacity, its cooling potential is limited only by your imagination.

As one of Rosewill's finest gaming cases, the CULLINAN MX has the quality and aesthetics every gamer desires. This gorgeous RGB LED case is made with premium materials for an elegant appearance, as well as smooth and quiet operation. Plus, the tempered glass panels on the side and front display the key components within the case with subtlety and style. Rosewill's Cullinan MX is the ideal gaming PC case for those interested in a beautiful tempered glass chassis.
