Pet Food in US Market Dynamics

As the market is a recession proof, which will keep its growth prospect high

Increased tendency of pet owners to treat pets as humans, recession-proof industry, high pet penetration through adoption are the major factors that are enabling the market growth during the forecast period. Growing demand for healthy, natural and organic food for pets, rising demand for premium pet snacks, exponential increase in raw-dried foods for pets, and increasing availability of online customized pet food are the emerging opportunities that are likely to affect the market.

Pet Food Market in US: Segmental Overview

Cat food segment to witness the highest growth

With increased preference for keeping dogs as pets, the demand for dog pet food is going to dominate the global market during the forecast period. Also, the increased competition among vendors to provide organic and customized food for dogs is driving the segment to have the maximum revenue share. Similarly, innovation in specialty and premium products continues to drive the growth of cat food sales. The cat food segment is expected to post an impressive growth at a CAGR of more than 4 % during the forecast period. Since wet food is healthier than dry pet food, the demand for wet food is expected to increase exponentially during the forecast period.
