

SMi's Defence Logistics (CEE) – NEW Speakers & Updates

LONDON, ENGLAND, UNITED KINGDOM, November 15, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Join the world's leading military logisticians at Defence Logistics Central and Eastern Europe in Prague this March, to hear updates on enhancing multinational logistics collaboration for regional collective defence. This highly anticipated two-day event will focus specifically on regional logistics operations, joint interoperability, and strategy optimisation, covering a blend of: transport, supply chain and MRO management, medical logistic operations, lifecycle management, C2, and much more. www.defence-logistics.eu/einpr

SMi are delighted to welcome Lieutenant General Pavel Macko, 1st Deputy Chief of Staff, of the Slovakian Armed Forces, who will be speaking at Defence Logistics (CEE) this March 2018.

Lt. Gen. Macko has extensive experience in logistics operations including holding the position of Chief of Operations Division at HQ ISAF, Afghanistan, and of Commander of the NATO Joint Forces Training Center in Bydgoszcz, Poland, before taking up his current position. He will be presenting 'An Update on Slovakia's Modernised Supply Chain and Support System.'

Below is a summary of the presentation, being held on Day 1 at 14:00.

Communications and C2 Optimisation of Logistics Strategy

Modernising truck and helicopter logistics capacity to enhance flexibility within the Armed Forces, to maintain equipment operability and full capability in national operations. This will be presented through the case study of the Bell 429 light utility helicopters, imported from the US to boost Slovakian national support systems. Moreover, working closely with allies will ensure Slovakian logistics battalions remain up to standard. This will consist of using international exercises to sustain battalion readiness and interoperability. Looking at this from a strategic perspective, the Slovakian Armed Forces are introducing tactical changes to Command and Control (C2) in order to consolidate future supply and support operations.
