

Star Trek Writer's New Space Show

SPACE COMMAND is an epic science fiction series with a hopeful vision spanning 150 years of galactic history. Featuring a Who's Who of TV and film stars!

HOLLYWOOD, CALIFORNIA, USA, November 18, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Created by Marc Scott Zicree, who's written and produced for major franchises including Star Trek -- The Next Generation, Babylon 5, The New Twilight Zone, Beauty and the Beast, and Sliders, working for decades as a writer-producer on these iconic shows. Now he's reached out to his audience, raised nearly a million dollars and has shot a two-hour pilot for a new science fiction show starring Doug Jones (Shape of Water, Star Trek Discovery) and many other TV and film stars including Mike Harney (Orange is the New Black), John Hennigan (Glow), Bruce Boxleitner (Babylon 5), James Hong (Blade Runner), Bill Mummy (Lost In Space), and Mira Furlan(LOST).

After decades of dystopic futures in movies, TV, and games, it's time for a change.

SPACE COMMAND set a record on Kickstarter and received worldwide press attention, including stories in VARIETY and THE WALL STREET JOURNAL. It has attracted an unprecedented collaboration of talent from Star Wars, Star Trek, Battlestar Galactica, Babylon 5 and Doctor Who. The US Air Force gave production support, and major publishers and distribution companies are already reaching out to come aboard this unique project.
