Global Inductor Market 2016 to 2021

According to the report, Global Inductor Market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.82% over the forecast period 2016-2021.

Growing demand for consumer electronics such as smartphones, tablets, laptops, set-top boxes, portable gaming consoles, and others is the major factor which is driving the demand for various inductors worldwide. The growth of global inductor market is also fueled by escalating demand for inductors by telecommunication, industrial, automotive, and defense sector. Asia-Pacific region is expected to witness the highest inductor market growth rate during the forecast period due to rising manufacturing industries, especially in Japan and India, thereby impacting the global inductor market. However, due to advancement in technology in other sectors, the size of products such as wireless handsets, gaming devices, and the like pressurizes inductor manufacturers to produce complex miniature inductors, thereby acting as a technological barrier to the growth of global inductor market.
