About Linerless Labels

Linerless labels are a type of pressure sensitive labels without a liner or backing paper attached to it. These labels have a release coating coated on the face of the label and an adhesive on the back of the label. It is quite similar to the everyday tape, and the release coating on the face prevents the labels from sticking to each other when rolled. Different types of labels have different features and find use in a particular type of product.

Technavio's analysts forecast the global linerless labels market to grow at a CAGR of 5.14% during the period 2017-2021.
