Cosmetic chemicals are integral part of different cosmetic products such as conditioners, shampoos, lotions, and creams among others. These chemicals help in increasing shelf-life of the products due to presence of various preservatives while enhancing the appearance of the user.

Rising disposable income and living standards, changing consumer preferences, and advanced packaging solutions is augmenting the demand for cosmetic products. Increasing demand for personal care products is providing necessary impetus for the growth of global cosmetic chemicals market.

Competitive Insights: Prominent key market players in Cosmetic Chemicals market include Akzo Nobel, The Dow Chemical Company, BASF, Evonik, and Huntsman among others. The global cosmetic chemicals company is highly fragmented due to the presence of large number of global and regional vendors.

Owing to the intense competition in the industry, market players need to follow strategic partnerships and M&A while expanding their product portfolio by launching new products as per the changing needs of customers around the globe. Recently in May 2017, Huntsman Corporation and Clariant have announced their merger to create a leading global specialty chemical company named HuntsmanClariant to improve growth profile in highly attractive end markets and geographies.
