Rubber Additives Market Research Report

According to the report, global rubber additives market is projected to grow from US$4.264 billion in 2017 to US$5.440 billion in 2022, at a CAGR of 4.99% over the forecast period. Additives can include vulcanization process, fillers, accelerators and other materials and is used to enhance process ability, facilitate or accelerate cross linking or improve the finished rubber product properties.

The increasing consumption of rubber polymers from various industries such as growing automotive industry, manufacturing industry and electrical insulation industries drive the global market of rubber additives. Moreover, utilisation of rubber in non tyre applications also impact the market growth significantly. However, stringent regulations and policies from necessary authorities across the globe impair the market growth.

Geographically, Asia Pacific region is expected to drive the global market of rubber additives on account of expansion of various end use industries owing to rapid industrialization, especially in countries like India and China. Similarly, Europe is estimated to have significant market growth on account of expansion of automobile market in Germany

Research Methodology: The first step towards determining rubber additives market size involves identifying key players and the revenue contribution of the overall business or relevant segment aligned to the study in consideration through extensive secondary research. This also includes various studies and data published by industry associations, analyst reports, investor presentations, press releases and journals among others.

Both bottom-up and top down approaches are utilized to determine the market size of the overall market and key segments. The values obtained are correlated with the primary inputs of the key stakeholders in rubber additives value chain, such as C-Level Executives, Directors, and Managers among others across key enterprises operating as manufacturers, suppliers, and distributors.

The last phase is providing intelligence in the form of presentation, charts, graphics and other different formats helping the clients in faster and efficient understanding of the market. Under this phase complete market engineering is involved which includes analyzing the gathered data from different sources and existing proprietary datasets while using various data triangulation methods for market breakdown and forecasting.
