Global Operations Advisory Market 2017

Clients are looking for companies that can break down a large project into small functions and offer customized solutions to respective functions. Services are now being split into several individual components and sold separately rather than bundled together. There has been a growing trend from clients to pick and choose service elements they prefer to do themselves and service elements they choose to allocate to other service providers. This approach is called modularization of services and is a response to clients feeling that a single firm will not be able to handle the complexity of a large project and hence wanting four to five firms to collaborate.
