

KVO Collection's Yearly Event raises a Grant for Help Us Adopt

Julia Ford And Claudia Wood, the sisters behind KVO Collections, diamond jewelry for everyday women hosted their 3rd annual event in Darian, Connecticut.

NEW YORK, NY, USA, December 6, 2017
/EINPresswire.com/ -- The sisters invited local brands to showcase alongside their beautiful diamond collection with the goal to raise awareness and funds for Help Up Adopt while guests got a unique shopping experience.

"KVO likes to do things differently. We like to donate 20% always to a cause or a person in need, we like to collaborate with other businesses, and we like to sell in unique retail settings. All we hope for is that our contributions make a difference in people's lives," says Claudia Wood. And indeed they do: the event raised a grant for a family to adopt. That is one family that will forever feel the impact of KVO Collections' contributions.

"Helpusadopt.org gives many grants each year in and KVO is delighted to have donated enough money this year to build a family. Adoption gives children the tools they need for success and KVO is proud to be part of this groundbreaking work," says Julia Ford

KVO Collections is a concept that Julia Ford and Claudia Wood created to honor their parents. KVO are the initials of their mom, Karin von Owstien. The collections honor her creativity, love of beauty, and European simplicity and culture. The profit from the jewelry is used to help everyday people with everyday challenges. Their father's philanthropic spirit was the inspiration for their commitment to this business model. KVO Collections collaborates with other businesses and foundations who share the mission of supporting others with their profitable endeavors.
