

Agency launched new website and services in Belfast covering Northern Ireland, UK and Ireland

ProfileTree.com - a Belfast based agency focused on video production - audio - all types of content that has a positive impact in growing a brand online.

BELFAST, ANTRIM, NORTHERN IRELAND, December 11, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In the business world, no matter how good your business model is or how well your product compares to competitors; Digital marketing can literally make or break a business.

Why use Digital Marketing? The top reason why businesses are opting to go online is that digital marketing is far less costly than any and all traditional marketing means. The world around us is all going digital, people are constantly on their smart phones, tablets and laptops; constantly surfing the internet, reading up on new topics, learning new things and even socialising. Reaching targeted consumer segment is much easier online; staying in touch with the customer base can be done much more efficiently through digital means. That's why online exposure is so important nowadays, people have more chance of seeing your online content than they do seeing a television ad, a billboard or even stumbling upon one of your stores. Digital marketing also contributes to your brand identity/image. Online presence is no longer only important for your business, it is now crucial for your business to survive in today's hostile and competitive business world.

Video Production, Content Marketing and SEO services are critically important to any business and ProfileTree is delighted to be providing these services to companies in Belfast and Northern Ireland.”
