As the first urban salon in the area, Vanity Hair Studio brought color and energy to where it was desperately needed. When they moved into their new location years ago, the transformation was vivid and exciting: colorful graffiti replaced loose wires, stacks of Bumble and bumble product took over dated metal shelving units, and a comfortable seating area and styling chairs filled the bare floors. "I've been doing hair my whole life," said Willis. "My passion for this industry lies solely in making people feel great about themselves."

Vanity stylists specialize in popular trends like balayage and fashion color, and the experienced team of professionals is always working to showcase an incredible level of depth and richness in the styles they create. You can find their Transformation Tuesday posts on Facebook or on the salon's blog to see if this would be the ideal fit for you and your skillset.
