

Debut Novelist Set To Challenge Best Sellers Lists

First time author crashes onto the scene with high concept thriller tackling terrorism and religious extremism.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, January 4, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jean-Michel Desire has just launched his writing career in grand style by winning a publishing contract with Mirador Publishing. His debut novel, Fantasy Man, is a high concept thriller worthy of Dan Brown or Ken Follett and tackles the biggest issues of all. With the world currently facing a series of unprecedented events, it seems that Desire's new novel has been ripped straight from tomorrow's headlines.

It takes a brave author to tackle religious extremism and New World Order at any time but for debut novelist, Jean-Michel Desire is setting the stakes high with Fantasy Man. This high octane thriller concerns a megalomaniac who would give James Bond pause and goes on to examine the effects of religious extremism and terrorism in a way which demands the reader to re-examine their own preconceptions.

Except for a serendipitous accident, Fantasy Man may never have seen the light of day. Recovering at home following a bad fall which resulted in a triple fracture of his ankle, Jean-Michel set about writing the book he had always wanted to bring to life.

"We were delighted to receive this book," said Sarah Luddington, Mirador Publishing's Commissioning Editor. "Jean-Michel is clearly a brave author who is asking if terrorism is ever justified. Not an easy subject matter for a debut author."

Already the critics are spotting this book as something special. With the highly respected Book Reviewer saying, "It's a story that pulls together ancient and modern concepts of magic and science and has some marvellous plot twists which all combine at the end to give the reader a sense of hope." And The Book Blogger commenting, "The sense of threat is a constant and makes this a page-turner." Fantasy Man is published by Mirador Publishing and is available through all good bookshops or online retailers.
