

Marat Tsirelson of GM Home to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

SOUTHAMPTON, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES, January 5, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- One might think you'd need a magic wand to turn a neglected property into a gracious home that is a source of community pride. For Marat Tsirelson of GM Home, it's relentless drive, a commitment to quality, and an expert understanding of financing that does the trick.

Passion is one thing Marat feels separates his property development company from others. He stays on top of everything and makes himself available 24x7. Marat says, "Being self-employed, the work never stops."

Marat is in the "fix-and-flip business" popularized on various TV shows; the rehabilitation of distressed properties (single family homes, multi-unit rental buildings and mixed-use properties).

GM Home launches about 65-75 projects each year, and concentrates on Philadelphia, Bucks County and Montgomery County Pennsylvania.

Why these areas?

"It's where I'm originally from. I know the geography, and I love the area. It's good to do business in the place you are, and not be remote."

A recent Pennsylvania development is a 20-unit community in Brewery Town and he's excited about it. Another favorite was in South Chadwick, adored because it was such a challenge; so structurally compromised they had to tear it down and start completely over.

After eight years, GM Home is still breaking new ground, and was recently featured in the Philadelphia Enquirer. They also launched a sister company that supports developers and savvy individuals with bulk materials, professional services and even costs. One such affiliate venture is a multi-unit property in Decatur County, Georgia.

GM Home works with architects and other professionals, but when it comes to design, they do the stunning work themselves.

"We follow Architectural Digest and select print titles to see what's trending. We love to integrate quartz, marble, tile, light fixtures and other signature touches."

While it feels great to close a deal or triumph over economic hurdles, the real satisfaction comes when a buyer calls Marat to say how happy he is with his new home.

CUTV News Radio will feature Marat Tsirelson in an interview with Doug Llewelyn on January 9th at 12pm EST.
