

Global Ball Valves Market is Expected to Reach $13.98 billion by 2023

Market Research Report on Global Ball Valves Market

RAIPUR, INDIA, January 8, 2018
/EINPresswire.com/ --

Report Sellers has added a new market research report "Ball Valves - Global Market Outlook \(2017-2023\)" to its offerings.

According to Report, the Global Ball Valves Market is accounted for $11.26 billion in 2016 and is expected to reach $13.98 billion by 2023 growing at a CAGR of 3.1% during the forecast period. Ball Valves are used in various end users segments such as oil & gas, aerospace & defense and other industries. This market is categorized by many manufacturers and several regional players owing to its heavy competition in the market. The growth of the market is propelled by increasing demand for process safety, rise in energy consumption, process plant renovation and growing modern industries in Middle East region. However, delay of the mining industry in APAC, Latin America, and Africa is creating a negative impact in the market.

Based on material, cast iron segment is used in wide range of applications such as automotives, pipes and machines due to its castability, quite low melting point, excellent machinability, excellent fluidity, wear resistance and resistance to deformation. Moreover, it is used for the development of common water valves in which pressure and temperature is not a strict issue.

By geography, Asia Pacific region commanded the largest market share during the forecast period owing to growing number of investments by Chinese government in this region. Moreover, companies in this region are modernizing their plants and facilities with highly developed technologies.

Some of the key players in this market include Valvitalia S.P.A, Alfa Laval, Burkert Fluid Control Systems, Velan Inc., Metso, IMI PLC., Cameron Schlumberger Ltd., Emerson, Apollo Valves, Curtiss-Wright Corporation, Weir Group PLC, Neway Valves Co. Ltd., Kitz Corporation, Crane Co. and Flowserve Corporation.
