

LiveEdu Project Screen - Coming to a City Near You

Watch projects live in your city on LiveEdu Project Screens for your professional development.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, January 12, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The wait is not long now. LiveEdu Project Screens are coming soon to your city. LiveEdu is a decentralized professional development platform that teaches people how to build complete products in future technological fields. They are the YouTube for online education and professional development and with this new and innovative venture you will be able to improve your professional skills just by watching their project screens across the globe. For the audio of these live project screens, you simply download the iOS or Android version of the LiveEdu app and use your purchased Education coins to listen in. VIOLA! You are on your way to learning how to excel in your chosen field.

LiveEdu Project Screen

The platform will have eight main topics and several subcategories; with the main topics being: Artificial Intelligence, Cybersecurity, Game Development, Data Science, Cryptocurrencies, Programming, Design, Augmented and Virtual Reality. From these topics and subcategories, project creators will build over ten thousand (10,000) projects. Not only that, they will be in several different languages, including English, Chinese, and Russian.

With the first LiveEdu Project Screen slated to be erected in San Francisco, it is important to start buying those Education coins (EDU coins). Since it is EDU coin holders who will have voting powers to decide which city the next project screen will be launched, by using their coins to vote. Conversely, if you purchase a substantial amount of EDU coins, you can vote and push your city to the top.

Presently, the plan is to launch project screens in

- *Beijing
- *New York
- *London
- *Shanghai
- *Seoul
- *Tokyo
- *Amsterdam
- *Berlin, etc.

The LiveEdu platform is a great ecosystem for people to improve their existing skill and we are opening up the world of product development with blockchain technology.
