CEDAR HILL, TX, USA, January 15, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- U.S. Energy

Assets launches Strategic Investing in U.S. Oil & Gas. By partnering with some of the best operators in the business, we are able to evaluate a score of different operations & provide a strategic investing approach.

U.S. Energy Assets offers Oil and Gas Investment Opportunities in Texas and Beyond At U.S. Energy Assets, we critically review minerals, leases, working interest, and royalty interest opportunities and will only select projects that can return our “up-front” capital within a 6 to 18 month period. Our team has 50 plus years of experience evaluating oil and gas reserves, seismic, geology, and production.

We are not an operator and we don't want to be an operator. Our success is built on partnering with some of the best and most well known operators in the business that have a track record of success. We have ownership in wells in Oklahoma, Louisiana, Kansas, and Texas. However, our primary focus is in Texas, which has proven to be where our most successful and profitable wells are located. From initial leasing activity to permitting and infrastructure analysis, our acquisition experts construct a full field development profile and have over 50 years of combined experience.

It's clear, growth in oil and natural gas is being fueled by the world's changing energy needs. Worldwide demand is increasing and will continue to increase over the coming decades. Sophisticated investors recognize that. Individual and institutional investors from all over the globe entrust billions of investment dollars in the drilling for oil and gas in the United States.

Cash Flow (Monthly Passive Income): Long considered a mailbox investment, revenue disbursements are paid monthly and are accompanied by a production report. Returns range between 10-25%.

Long-term Passive Income: Payments are made for as long as an asset produces, which can be upwards of forty years or more in some fields.

Flexibility of Ownership: Your ownership can be through a trust, an LLC, a corporation, or individually. Hedge Against Inflation & Stock/Interest Rate Movements
