

Agency Innovating Personal Serviced Accommodation Booking Service with Redesigned Website

London-based travel accommodation website launches this week and is set to change the way we book corporate accommodation and luxury holidays in the capital.

LONDON, UK, January 25, 2018
/EINPresswire.com/ -- London Serviced Apartments has listened to and taken on board the feedback from customers and launched a new and easy to navigate website.

The company now offers a unique service to both business and discerning visitors through its new website with an additional personal touch of handpicked accommodations.

The website is now more user-friendly - browsing and locating a suitable property is easy with features such as postcode search, distance to a location of choice as well as sophisticated map filtering.

With the choice of over 1,400 top-rated serviced apartments, hotel suites and luxury homes in London. Anyone who is looking to visit the city can now not only find somewhere to stay but is personally guided through the process of selecting and booking the perfect accommodation with its dedicated agent.

Once dates, accommodation and reviews are all favourable, a booking is made by either calling the experts at London Serviced Apartments' booking telephone line or requesting a call back for the best rates on offer or a better fit alternatives and any luxury upgrades.

The company offers 24/7, 364* days of booking and customer service and live chat options due to its bespoke nature and concierge style of service to travel accommodation booking.

The personal touch is at the core of London Serviced Apartments' business ethos with its booking specialists looking to find the best apartments to fit travellers' specific requirements, such as wheelchair availability or a cot.

Founder Roy McKenzie says "thanks to the feedback from our valued customers, this unique site we launch this month could never have been better. We're leading the way with our customers from all over the world being able to book some of the best accommodation available in the capital.

"We believe in our personal approach to booking with offering the best accommodation on a per enquiry basis. No one should settle for the 'second best' by booking with generic results that churned out from other online booking sites based on limited information about your preferences. We really get to know our clients and this is a major factor in the success of our business and satisfaction of our clients."

London Serviced Apartments takes the stress out of sorting accommodation for whatever reasons its clients are visiting the city for, may that be contract work, holiday or medical stay.
