Unfortunately, refusing to take the blame for another party's personal injury can be very common, even if you may be at fault."

Jeffrey Schaffer is an attorney at Saffren & Weinberg, located in Jenkintown, PA that handles personal injury, medical malpractice, product liability, property damage, social security disability, and wrongful death.

Schaffer was recently able to obtain a settlement for a personal injury client. This client was involved in a fall-down incident in Burlington County, New Jersey. The client was walking across a business parking lot when he stepped into a small hole causing him to fall. The man was injured and suffered a severe fracture of his ankle. The owner of the property and retail tenant on the property denied any liability for his injury and proceeded to blame the client's negligence for his fall.

Unfortunately, refusing to take the blame for another party's personal injury can be very common, even if you may be at fault. Businesses and property owners can be very quick to put the blame on someone else to try and avoid paying medical or other expenses. Worse yet, most businesses have insurance for these type of liability issues. Many times the insurance companies just drag their feet hoping to settle for pennies on the dollar.

Luckily, the client reached out to the attorneys at Saffren & Weinberg to help with his case. Jeffrey Schaffer was more than happy to take on the case and help file a lawsuit to get the client the justice that he deserved. The matter proceeded to a court-ordered arbitration which awarded the client

$70,000.00. The defendants have paid the award.
