

EezyBee - A New Platform that Offers Solutions to Free Users from Debt Faster

EezyBee is a community-driven marketplace that provides unequivocal opportunities for individuals to monetize their talents or hobbies

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, USA, February 2, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Recent studies have revealed that in the United States, students owe over $1.2 trillion in student loans. The majority of these loans are shouldered by the millennial generation, with limited means of addressing this cumbersome debt post-graduation. A survey conducted by ORC International revealed that of the 1,000 millennial student respondents, two-thirds owed at least $10,000 while the remaining one-third reported that they owed over $30,000 in student loans. In essence, debt has been the defining factor for the millennial generation.

Students are essentially being torn in two different directions: focus on academics to make a better future for themselves or start working early to manage their loans. Securing a sustainable source of income suddenly becomes out of reach for modern day millennials.

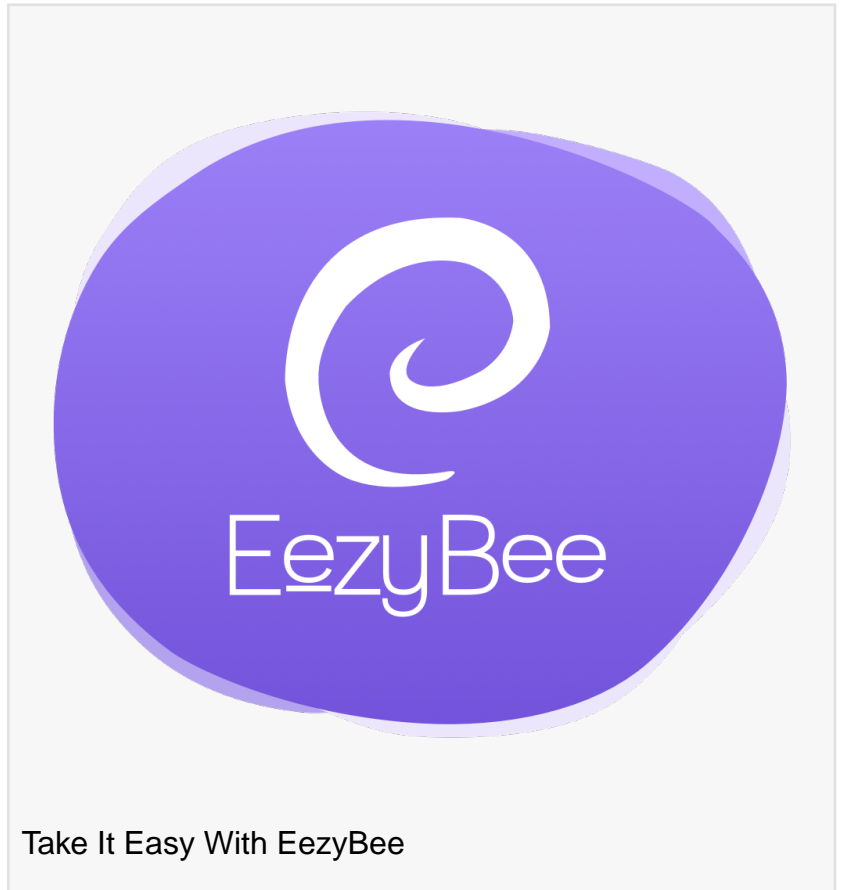

Many companies understand the fact that current students are the nation's future successors, and as such, efforts have been made to provide opportunities for them to earn additional income. EezyBee is a like-minded company that has dedicated itself towards providing unequivocal opportunities to individuals with talents, hobbies, or special skills that can be monetized.

...to make it simpler for people to seek affordable services and to help promote talented individuals by providing them with a stage to showcase and market their talent.”

them with a stage to showcase and market their talent.” EezyBee's goal is to help lessen the burden of everyday tasks while providing an opportunity for people to take advantage of in an online marketplace community.

Individuals can register themselves on the platform, upload their personal information and detail what services they can provide. Services can range from simple activities, such as “taking the dog for a walk” to more complex and professional tasks such as fixing electrical circuits. Furthermore, the person offering the service is free to determine his/her hourly rate, which is especially beneficial for students who require the additional flexibility. By taking advantage of the opportunities the platform is presenting, EezyBee users have a new avenue for dealing with burdensome debt.

ABOUT EEZYBEE

EezyBee is a community driven online service marketplace, a tool used to connect local service providers with local service seekers. The platform was created to present untapped opportunities for service providers to offer their hobbies, skills, or special talents as services and receive payment. The platform was also created to provide service seekers with seamless, trustworthy, affordable, accessible, and reliable access to services in their area. The goal is to allow our users to create more time for the more important things in life. We aim to support our target market, or anyone who is seeking to improve their financial situation. With this in mind, we also champion the notion of community-based health and encourage our users to get to know those around them for stronger social bonds and healthier lifestyles.

We extend a welcoming offer to our users to start their own business cost-free, risk-free, and on a low-commitment basis.

The live platform allows users to post their services, hire service providers, schedule and manage ongoing services, send/receive payment for all completed services, and incorporates many other exclusive features. We’ve created a mobile version to allow our users to manage their services on the go for a more streamlined experience as well. We encourage anyone who seeks a better financial future or anyone who requires service to join our platform and receive the benefits EezyBee has to offer.
