I'd also like to shed factual input on the 'underbanked' population who will undoubtedly continue to face obstacles related to competitive mortgage rates...”

*David E Howe,
SubscriberWise founder and
U.S. Credit Czar*

“The FHFA is seeking input and has extended the period to provide said input related to alternate scoring models for the mortgage market,” said David Howe, SubscriberWise founder, U.S. Credit Czar, and FICO and Vantage global highest achiever. “I'd like to weigh-in on the conversation and provide the decision makers and other relevant parties with facts and information that will guide thoughtful and smart decisions for the benefit of all. I'd also like to shed factual input on the 'underbanked' population who will undoubtedly continue to face obstacles related to competitive mortgage rates, regardless of any predictive scoring model(s) the government ultimately accepts.

“For the record, SubscriberWise was the first organization in the history of computer algorithms to score consumer credit reports with Fair Isaac's latest models -- FICO Score 8 and FICO Score 9 – for permissible-purpose consumer-initiated payment transactions and account review purposes. And the same can be said about Vantage 3.0., the model created by the Big 3 national repositories - Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion - to compete with FICO.

"Today, SubscriberWise incorporates the very latest Vantage model – Vantage 4.0 – and is the first organization on earth to incorporate this model for business-to-business consumer underwriting.

"Furthermore, SubscriberWise is also the only organization utilizing both FICO Score 9 and Vantage 4.0 simultaneously in its decision management technology," Howe noted. "Our award-winning technology previously incorporated FICO Score 9 and Vantage 3.0 for an Ohio-based MSO.

"Therefore, I conclude that SubscriberWise is uniquely positioned, and particularly qualified, to offer its expertise and professional guidance on this important issue that impacts homebuyers and taxpayers in consequential ways. And I wouldn't object if the federal government decided to compel SubscriberWise – a remarkably critical institution in the U.S.A. elaborate credit and banking system today - along with its founder and Credit Czar, to deliver evidence and testimony regarding this vital subject.
