

Ipe Decking USA Launches Website IpeDecking.net with Free Shipping

To celebrate the launch of its new website IpeDecking.net, Ipe Decking USA is giving free shipping on all random length decking orders direct to job site.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, USA, February 7, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The new state of the art website offered by [Ipe Decking USA](http://Ipe Decking USA) is offering free shipping on all random length orders for the month of February. The new website is set to feature the exclusive exotic decking line of wood from Brazil. Ipe wood is highly regarded as the most luxurious and durable of any woods available. Being one of the hardest wood on the [Janka Scale](http://Janka Scale) in the world. The purpose of the new website is to enable buying deck wood online easy for contractor and consumers.

When purchasing Ipe from the site, Ipe Decking USA will ship directly to your job site any random length order for free in February. Making buying Ipe easy and hassle-free. The website offers lengths up to 22 feet long and each order can be custom milled to customers specification. But more than anything it is important to note that the new website offers only the highest quality of wood. All lumber coming from [ipe decking.net](http://ipe decking.net) is F.E.Q. quality which meets or exceeds F.A.S., simply put, it is the highest quality available.

When buying Ipe from the website, you can choose pregrooved also known as "grooved" to use with hidden clip systems or eased-edge which is the standard way Ipe is sold for decking. Eased-edge can be used with an edge fastening system or directly installed. Because of Ipe's extremely long life, it is important to install it properly so that it lasts as long as possible and without issue during its life.

We are excited to launch the website IpeDecking.net specifically for Ipe decking. While Ipe has become more popular for siding and fencing the primary use of Ipe is decking still.”

Steven Rossi

With the launch of the new website also comes a mobile-friendly version for use on tablets and phones. Making navigation easy as can be for people looking to buy or learn about decking. The website also comes with an Ipe Education Center for consumers looking for information on the incredible wood. The Education Center is planned to contain information on the characteristics that make Ipe so amazing and to answer the question of, "What is Ipe decking?".

Among other things: Ipe is one of the longest lasting woods in some cases well over 75 years. Ipe is extremely low maintenance, in fact, no maintenance if you like it to be grey. Ipe is naturally bug resistant. The wood is so dense not even termites want to eat it. Even when compared to composites it generally lasts longer and has less maintenance.

Great around water, such as pools and docks. One of the strongest woods available, 2.7 times harder than even White Oak.
