

OnBoat fleet of charter boats to Catalina Island

OnBoat is announcing its fleet of charter boats from Newport Beach, Los Angeles and Marina Del Rey to Catalina Island

MARINA DEL REY, CA, UNITED STATES, February 13, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- OnBoat is announcing its fleet of charter boats to Catalina Island. Marc Andelman, co-founder of OnBoat, said “OnBoat has curated the largest fleet of yacht charters to Catalina island. Our Catalina boat options range from powerboats, to catamarans and mega yachts.” In addition, he states that customers may hire a yacht to Catalina with an overnight option for up to six people. According to Kevin Wang, OnBoat founder, many people prefer the flexibility and privacy of a Catalina boat rental compared to the ferry.

Happy OnBoat Customers

Marc with OnBoat explains that Catalina is a must-see destination, that also so happens to be just a couple dozen miles off the coast of Southern California. Marc likes to point out the island’s great weather, unique historical and natural charms. He recommends checking out the islands cute little botanical garden, the Wrigley, to help identify some of this island’s many species of plants found nowhere else on earth. Wrigley was a chewing gum magnate who also developed the charming village of Avalon, known for its shops, restaurants, seaside promenade and famous architecture. His estate later gave away 42,000 acres, most of the island, to a land trust to protect the many unique species including the Catalina Island fox.

The other, smaller settlement is 2 harbors, located on an isthmus from which it is possible to see both sides of the island. OnBoat’s Catalina Island yacht charter fleet goes to either Avalon or two harbors, with Los Angeles charter boats to Catalina from Marina del Rey, just three miles from LAX, more yachts in Newport Beach, as well as boats in San Pedro.
