Myocardial Ischemia

Overview

Lack of blood flow and oxygen to the heart muscle lead to cardiac ischemia, also called myocardial ischemia. The signs and symptoms may include chest pain, typically on the left side of the body (angina pectoris), neck or jaw pain, shoulder or arm pain, and clammy skin, shortness of breath and nausea and vomiting.

Myocardial ischemia can be caused by conditions such as coronary artery disease (atherosclerosis), blood clot, coronary spasm and severe illnesses. The factors that may increase the risk of developing myocardial ischemia include tobacco, diabetes, high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol or triglyceride levels, lack of physical activity, obesity and family history.
