

World's earliest non-invasive Coronary Heart Disease screening technology enters acquisition arena.

BOCA RATON, FL, UNITED STATES, March 6, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The world's earliest FDA Cleared non-invasive Coronary Heart Disease screening technology enters acquisition arena.

BOCA RATON, FL According to the American Heart Association, over 2,000 Americans die every day from cardiovascular disease (CD). It's recognized as the the number one killer on the planet.

There is only one way to reduce the threat of CD and that's when the disease is detected early enough to do something about it. This Platform makes it possible.

Up until now, many people discover they have the disease after they have suffered from a stroke or a heart attack.

Due to the importance of detecting this disease early, the inventor brought it to SoundHealth, the medical innovation agency, to find the right home - where this innovation could be distributed globally to save people's lives and to make a real difference.

This FDA-cleared, non-invasive, insurance-reimbursable innovation accurately detects generalized atherosclerosis decades ahead of symptoms; giving the patient the ability to be proactive in reducing the risks of the typical grave disasters associated with heart disease.

"If you are a physician in Florida and would like to be considered to participate as one of the very limited Atherosclerosis screening centers, now is the time to reach out to us," said Michael Miller, CEO of SoundHealth.
