COLLEYVILLE, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, March 15, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- One of life's greatest pleasures is taking a well-deserved much needed vacation. The average person spends ten hours researching a vacation online which can also be painstakingly stressful and ultimately ineffective. What if you could find a travel agency that offers you the utmost premium assistance and provides you with a vacation of a lifetime?

Kimberlee Evans is the founder and CEO of a unique unparalleled agency, An Extraordinary Traveler.

"A vacation is a rejuvenating experience and an escape to paradise from every day stress that's why it should be impeccably flawless," says Kimberlee. "Nothing is more self-assuring and gratifying than when clients express tremendous gratitude after coming home from the vacation I arranged for them. Exceptional service is key to my business and I do everything possible to ensure amazing travel experiences for each and every one of my clients."

A well-versed traveler herself, one of Kimberlee's favorite trips was to Bavaria, in Europe to see the breathtakingly beautiful Neuschwanstein Castle, this was the castle Disney used when designing Cinderella's beautiful home. It was covered in snow and hands down one of the most gorgeous areas she's ever seen. Having visited many other popular destinations from all-inclusive and non-inclusive resorts throughout Riviera Maya, Cancun, and Cabo San Lucas she has the in-depth knowledge to provide you with options as opposed to going to searching the web to find the perfect resort including upgrades or perks vacationers cannot obtain on their own.

"People call me to inquire about a deal, all the time. But as a discerning agency we are not here to find you the lowest price, instead the highest quality for your money," says Kimberlee. "If you call me to book a trip my price will not always be the lowest, you might find it lower online. However, you then run the risk of a mishap and find no one to rescue you from a customer service perspective. This can ruin an entire vacation in a matter of moments. Having my clients back, in the case of an error or mistake, is invaluable. Service, is what the travel industry is all about."

Kimberlee's future projects include offering group travel, partaking in bridal shows, and putting together amazing destination weddings. Aside from providing people with second to none vacations she would be honored to be part of a bride and groom's blissfully happy honeymoon and beginning of a wonderful life together full of travel.

"There are so many advantages to the services we offer versus doing it yourself," says Kimberlee. "Instead of stressing over the amount of research needed to plan your vacation call our travel agency. You will still be involved in planning that vacation, in fact you'll play a major role without the worry of insuring that it's exactly what you want. At An Extraordinary Traveler, we'll make sure you're getting just that. My philosophy is pack your bags, we'll do the rest."

CUTV News will feature Kimberlee Evans on an interview with Doug Llewellyn March 19th at 2 p.m. EST and with Jim Masters March 26th at 2 p.m. EST.
