

Attention all Film Enthusiasts!!!

Are you aware of the latest illustrious addition to the Film Fair circuit?

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, USA, March 20, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In 2018 the World Film Fair will come to New York. Don't forget to note the dates which will be from October 26th to 31st. This event is certain to hold its own amongst the most prestigious festivals worldwide - including the American Film Market (AFM), FILMART (Hong Kong), the Berlinale International Film Festival and the Cannes Film Festival.

The World Film Fair is as diverse as it is unique, and will provide all film lovers with sensational and memorable experiences. The venue is the stunning Brooklyn Expo Center which is light and extensive with totally glazed walls. The exhibitors will be housed in the main gallery with screenings in adjacent meeting rooms.

In 2018 the World Film Fair will come to New York, to Brooklyn Expo Center.

There will be an amazing 5000 fresh films and projects on display at the World Film Fair. In attendance will be 1,500 professionals from the film industry – including film makers, distributors, buyers and production executives. On offer for attendees will be 50 seminars and workshops, facilitated by as many guest speakers who will offer topics such as screenplay writing tips and methods to ensure you get the best commercial distribution for your project. Over 80 countries will be represented, and during the five days of the fair more than 50,000 film enthusiasts are expected to be present. In addition a staggering 4,800,000 distance participants will take part in talks and after film discussions via Facebook Live.

If your appetite isn't already whetted you will be delighted to also learn that about 100 Film Festivals will be held during the course of the Fair. These will demonstrate a wide selection of some of the best productions worldwide for buyers and distributors to select. Five prestigious New York theaters will loan their facilities to show a total of 300 film performances. Established festivals from Europe, North America, Australasia and Asia will be represented with many of their award winning productions being screened.

Cinematography students of all disciplines will be well catered for at the World Film Fair. A special sector will be devoted to aspiring film makers and a selection of some of the best student made projects from around the world will be shown at the Schools and Universities Film Production Center. Additionally representatives from more than 50 educational institutions will participate in competitions where winners will receive grants for their films to be shown at some of the world's best film festivals. Young film makers are invited to go through the necessary formalities in order to showcase their projects at the Fair.

There will be many opportunities for Fair attendees to meet and network with a variety of professionals who work in the cinematography profession in New York and further afield. Investors, distributors and production company reps will all be available to talk with you about your burgeoning career prospects.
